Harlan J. Berk, Ltd. has presented an innovation in antiquities and numismatics for some time now. The system is simple. When you want an antiquity or coin in the sale, just bid the estimated price by phone or mail. We will send you the antiquity or coin immediately. No waiting for the closing of the sale. Any and all antiquities or coins not sold before the closing date will be sent to the highest bidder on March 31, 1994.

EXAMPLE—You bid estimate on an item valued at $100.00 and if your bid is the 1st to reach us, you will receive the item immediately. If on the other hand, you bid $75.00 on the same item and are still the high bidder at the end of the sale, the item will be mailed to you on the closing date, March 31, 1994.

If you are ever in the area, stop in and see us! Of course, it's best to call first.

5. SICILY, ENNA, EUNUS/ANTIOCHUS; 136-131 BC, Gold Stater, 8.58g; unique Slave Revolt issue. Slightly bent from ground pressure. Obverse struck in high relief. Crude die engraving. Abt. EF 35000

There can be little doubt that these two gold coins are issues of Eunos/Antiochus. Making allowance for the rather crude style of the coins, there is much similarity in the portraits on all the coins. They must represent Eunos himself in the guise of a Seleucid King. There is no need to look for a particular prototype as Manganaro does. Certainly Tryphon would not have been taken as the model as Manganaro suggests, since he only reigned from 142-139 BC and his coins would hardly have been commonly seen in Sicily within a year or two of his death. In any case the organized slave-pirates of Cilicia had developed with the encouragement of Tryphon with Rome's tacit blessing, and he would hardly have been celebrated by those who were suffering as a result of his policy. A final and I think telling link between the named bronze and the "anonymous" gold is the unusual use of C. instead of Σ in both BACI on the bronzes and ΦΛΑΠΠΙΟC on the gold. The finding spots of both gold staters was apparently the region of Morgantina.

Thus we are in the exciting position of discovering the only ancient coin portrait of a slave and a usurper against the Roman Republic. Perhaps a coin of Spartacus too awaits discovery although this coin is just as important.

Sicily in the second century BC was a very rich province with wealthy landlords farming large estates on the rich arable land in the east of the island. It was also a refuge for runaway slaves from the mainland who often joined the endemic brigandage which was a normal way of life for some of the herdsmen in the more mountainous regions. Most of the agricultural work was done by slaves who were kept in chain gangs in barrack huts. Slaves were cheap - Rome had conquered Spain, Greece, Asia and Africa; in 167 BC 150,000 Epirots were sold into slavery in a single operation. Slave-piracy was promoted as state policy and the slave market on Delos could turn over 10,000 slaves a day. Many slaves in Sicily at this time were from Syria and the island was also the refuge of many Jews and Chaldeans expelled from Rome in 140 BC.

The slave Eunos, a Syrian from Apamea, who may possibly have been an illegitimate son of Antiochus the Great, belonged to Antigenes of Enna, a Sicilian Greek. Most of the slave owners on Sicily at the time were Roman Equites. Eunos was widely known locally as a magician and wonder worker, learning the future from visions of the Syrian goddess Atargatis. Among these visions was one where the goddess announced that one day he would be king- news which he told both his fellow slaves and his master Antigenes, who found this so amusing that he produced his slave for his guests entertainment at dinner parties. When Antigenes guests asked how they would be treated upon Eunos' predicted kingship, he said what he later did and "spared those who were kind to him" and butchered the rest of the slave owners.

Eventually, after several years of intermittent warfare, full scale insurrection broke out in 135 BC. The rebels were a mixed lot- runaways from Italy, wild herdsmen from the hills, native born Sicilian slaves, Chaldeans and Jews, some of whom may have fought for Simon Maccabaeus, and Spanish guerillas who had fled when the Romans murdered their nationalist leader. But above all, a strong contingent of Cilician and Syrian slaves, many of whom had been free men before being captured by pirates and sold. The liberal upbringing of free men grafted onto the slaves condition at its worst gave the revolt its dangerous threat to the status quo.

The spark that brought the revolution into flaming reality was a group of house-slaves who had been driven to desperate action by Damophilus and Megallis who were rich Siceliot ranchers. They treated their slaves very poorly. In the early spring of 135 Eunos lead 400 slaves who were gathered outside the city. They took an oath and gave sacrifices in order to have the resolve to take Enna. When the revolutionaries entered Enna, they were joined by other slaves who then murdered their masters. Damophilus and Megallis who hid in the house just outside the city were quickly captured by the former slaves and brought to the theater for trial. The speech Damophilus was allowed in his defense was literally cut short by Hermias and Zeuxis who butchered him on the spot before a verdict could be reached.

Immediately after this Eunos was proclaimed king by the assembly and took the name Antiochus. He declared all his subjects to be "Syrians". His two closest fellow-conspirators took the names Hermias and Zeuxis who had been ministers of Antiochus III. The Syrian woman with whom Eunos-now Antiochus- kept company was made queen. Eunos was intent on constructing a Seleucid-like empire in Sicily!

The next step was to free all the slaves from the barracks in the vicinity and arm all 6000 of them. All prisoners had been executed except the armorers and blacksmiths. After some early successful brushes with what forces the local authorities could produce, the rebels now numbered 10,000. A second revolt broke out in the west of the island under a Cilician bandit named Cleon, who captured Agrigentum. The Romans delighted in the fact that there were now two slave armies and expected them to exterminate each other in a war for supremacy. This shows how little the Romans knew what was happening on the island before the revolt. Eunos and Cleon had been in communication and the attack on Agrigentum had been jointly planned. When they joined forces, Cleon became (Eunos) Antiochus' devoted lieutenant. Eunos now had 70,000 followers and turned to taking other towns. First to fall was Tauromenium, then Catania and other un-named towns. Morgantina was also theirs although a siege of Syracuse failed while Messina was never part of the revolt.

Nov. 1990 the John Whitney Walter Collection #7. This coin was issued by Brutus after one of the best known events in world history, the assassination of Julius Caesar, was perpetrated by the man whose portrait this coin bears. The obverse legend "IMP BRVTVS" proves that Brutus killed Caesar not for the republic but for himself. Less than ten specimens of this important coin are recorded. Diebreaks on obverse in field. Choice EF with luster 285000
13. AUGUSTUS; 27 BC-14 AD, Aureus, 7.77g; RIC-85b var (R-3). Circa 19 BC. Commemorates return of Roman standards from Parthia. Impeccable and incredible portrait of Augustus. Contact marks on obverse in front of face and on reverse at 6 o'clock otherwise Near Mint State 7350

Berk, Ltd. Nov. 29, 1990 the John Whitney Walter #62. Of all the Roman Emperors Clodius Albinus in my view had the most distinctive portrait. This aureus is, without a doubt, the finest known of the small number of coins that were struck in gold by this emperor. Of highest rarity and quality. Unmatchable and unreplaceable. FDC 280000
17. SEPTIMIUS SEVERUS; 193-211 AD, Aureus, 7.16g. Circa 207 AD; RIC-205. 2 recorded. Rx-Aesculapius holding two snakes in temple of Eshmun for emperors health to be restored. Rare type. EF 5250
18. TRAJAN DECIUS; 249-251 AD, Aureus, 3.08g; RIC-14. Rx-Dacia standing. Excellent portrait, beautifully struck. Commemorating Trajan Decius' victory in Dacia. Only the most minor rub on the high points of the figure prevent this coin from being FDC 6500
19. TACITUS; 275-276 AD, Aureus, 4.80g; RIC-75, Ex-Ars Classica 1928 #1509. This coin is not only extremely rare and carries a pedigree, but is one of the most scarce coins of the 3rd Century AD. Near Mint State/EF+ 7500
20. DIOCLETIAN; 284-305 AD, Aureus, 5.50g; RIC-134. Excellent nearly expressive portrait with beautiful drapery on bust. Near Mint State 4800
21. GALERIUS; 305-311 AD, Aureus, Nicomedia, 5.30g; RIC-33. Quite scarce. Very bold portrait. Near Mint State/EF+ 5250
22. ANTHEMIUS; 467-472 AD, Solidus, Rome, 4.43g; Lacam I pl CXIII/6 same obverse die. Excellent high quality for this emperor. Beautifully centered with an extremely well struck obverse and, of course, correspondingly weak reverse. Mint State 4800
23. ROMULUS AUGUSTUS; 475-476 AD, Tremissis, Ravenna; C-10, Lacam 2-3 D1/R1. 17 recorded. This is the most desired late Roman coin with only 17 tremissis recorded and 23 solidi, only 40 individuals and museums can own a coin issued under the last emperor. Someone must have known he was going to be the last emperor since they gave him the names of Rome's mythological founder and the empire's real founder. Struck with the same dies as the Garrett Coin. This coin is perfectly centered with full legends and nicely struck. You need not look for a better example. EF 12500
24. VALENTINIAN; 375-392 AD, Solidus, Thessalonica, 4.43g; C-36, RIC-34b. Ding on reverse edge at 6 o'clock. Very nice. Somewhat unusual miniature but attractive portrait of emperor on obverse. Near Mint State 1000

CRUSADERS

In the 13th century the fourth Crusade went disastrously wrong. Rather than battling the forces of Islam, the Crusade diverted to Constantinople which it attacked and captured, crippling the Christian-Byzantine empire. Western crusaders seized Byzantine land, particularly in Greece. Their chief centers were the principality of Achaia and the Duchy of Athens where the rulers maintained brilliant courts. At one famous tournament in 1305 a thousand Frankish knights from Greece feasted and jostled with one another and with famous knights from Western Europe for 20 days. Wars were frequent with one another, the Byzantines, Turks, Slavs, pirates and bandits. Ultimately these medieval states fell to their own ruthless mercenaries in the 14th century.

BRITANNICUS; died 55 AD
640.	Son of Claudius and Messalina, Sestertius, Cohen-2 Fr 2500. VF/ Fine	60000
Born Tiberius Claudius Caesar Germanicus to Messalina and the emperor Claudius, February 11, 42 AD. His name was changed to Britannicus after his father's victories in Britain. Britannicus' mother Messalina was executed by Claudius and he married Agrippina Junior and adopted her son Nero. Not long after this Agrippina most likely disposed of Claudius and it wasn't long after, in 55 AD, at a dinner given for a group of young nobles, that Britannicus was poisoned and died. The night of his death his body was taken to the Plain of Mars and burned. Also poisoned at the same dinner was Britannicus' close friend Titus who survived to subjugate Judaea and become sole emperor of Rome from 79-81 AD.

The coins of Britannicus were not issued as Harold Mattingly at the British Museum once thought, in 54-55 AD, but instead were special medallic sestertii produced in small quantities, possibly as presentation pieces, by Britannicus' childhood friend, Titus, on the 25th Anniversary of his death. Proof of this lies not only in the artistic style but also because of the very interesting choice of reverse type. Remember, Britannicus' body was cremated on the Plain of Mars and the reverse of this coin exhibits a walking Mars, certainly no coincidence. Another very important fact is that Britannicus was a junior emperor to Nero. It is quite impossible for there to be Roman mint sestertii of the junior emperor Britannicus and no youthful portraits in sestertii or middle bronze of the emperor Nero though denarii and aurei of the youthful Nero are not considered rare. A sestertius of Britannicus is one of the greatest, almost fabled rarities, of the Roman series. Only 8 coins of two basic types are recorded with most of the examples in only fair condition and of dubious authenticity. This coin with a jade-green and brown patina is unquestionably authentic and the finest known example.

A defiant emperor protecting the realm is seen from the back, bare-shouldered with a bow case on his back holding a spear. The coin is struck on an extra large flan with a full sharp legend. On the reverse Tacitus in full uniform with helmet and spear, approaches a seated Victory being crowned by Mars. Extremely nice. Abt. EF/Fine+ 9000

BYZANTINE WEIGHT

Obverse: Two imperial busts/Rx- ΔI, KE. Actual weight: 4.31g
Unusual to have busts and inscription. A joint reign - possibly Justin I and Justinian. The legend on the reverse is an abbreviation for the Greek word meaning "just" or "correct" despite the fact that it weighs the same as a 23 siliqua light weight!

The BM have a comparable piece, obviously engraved by the same hand, which weighs 4.19g = a 22 siliqua light weight!
The Bm weight has been in the collection since the last century. It's never been illustrated but was listed in Daltons "Catalogue of Early Christian Antiquities of the British Museum", 1901. Very rare and interesting.

745. BYZANTINE WEIGHT; Solidus weight 4.31g. Second recorded. Brown patination. Probably portraits of Justin & Justinian. Highly unusual and important. EF	1200

777. Corinthian Alabastron; 6th Century BC. Extremely large alabastron with two faint registers of the standard elongated animals, and two registers of geometric design. Bottom of piece has been restored. 10 1/2" High 1800
778. Corinthian Amphoriskos; 575 BC. Piece renders two fairly faint geese on upper register. Register below renders faint elongated goats and panthers. Last register has geometric design. No restoration. 6 3/4" High 500
779. Attic Sessile Kantharos, Saint Valentine Class, 5th Century BC. Rejoined from three fragments on one side. 4 7/8" High, 6 3/4" Wide 2500
780. Attic Kylix; 5th Century BC. Kylix renders in the tondo, a very elaborate athena's bust facing right. The figure holds out a stylus, a tool used for writing on clay or wax. Restored from fragments. 2" High, 7 3/4" Wide 4500
781. Large Attic Black-Figure Cup; 500-475 BC. In the manner of the Haimon Painter. Cup has similar scenes on either side, a satyr seizing the right arm of a female. Both scenes are enclosed in palmettes. No restoration. 4 1/8" High, 10 1/4" Wide with handles 2500
782. Apulian Lekanis; 4th Century BC. By the Ascoli Antriano Painter and very typical of his earlier work. Lid renders a well drawn sphinx and male's head. Between the two figures are palmettes, a rosette decorates the top of the handle. Sphinxes found in Greek art are very rare. Edge of lid rejoined in one place. See RVAP II, page 718 nos. 857-863 and the vases illustrated on pl 266, 1-4. 5" High, 5 1/2" Diameter 4500
783. Apulian Lekanis; 4th Century BC. By the Ascoli Antriano Painter and very typical of his earlier work. Lid renders a stylized swan and a male's head. Between the two figures are palmettes, a rosette decorates the top of the handle. Rejoined at edge of rim in two places. 4 3/4" High, 5 3/8" Diameter 1500
784. Campanian Trefoil Oinochoe; 4th Century BC. It is Trendall's belief that the dotted rocks are typical of the Caivano Painter and his associates, but the drawing of the faces and the dots-stripe on the drapery shows strong Paestan influence. Trendall compares this to the work of the Alerca Painter (LCS, p. 333) whose main vases from the site of Alerca are discussed and illustrated in Notizie degl. Scavi, 1937, pp 123 ff., pls 9-12. Scene renders a satyr and a male facing, each with a sensitive expression towards one another. The satyr who stands with his right foot upon a spotted rock, presents the male with an applied white fillet, a narrow band of cloth often tied around the forehead or funerary stele. The male is shown seated upon a large spotted rock, with his cloak draped across his legs. The male holds a thyrsos, a staff terminated in a pine cone; carried by Dionysos or Dionysiac followers, across his right arm. In his left he offers a horned cup, probably a rhyton, which is painted in an applied off-white. Above the two figures hangs a bunch of grapes in applied white. The entire scene is finally enclosed in three varied borders: Below runs a wave pattern, to the right and left runs a vertical vine pattern, and above is a egg pattern. The quality of art on this piece is of tremendous quality and leaves a lasting impression to whom ever views it. In fantastic condition other than the upper portion of the handle, which has been restored. 8 3/4" High 8500
785. Duanian Duck Strainer; 4th Century BC. Strainer has three registers of geometric design. Neck of duck has a single break which has been rejoined. 5" High, 6 3/4" Wide 1600
786. Daunian One-Handled Cup; 4th Century BC. Cup has several lines of geometric designs painted in reddish-brown & brown. Part of lip restored from one fragment. A well balanced piece. 4 1/2" High, 3 1/4" Wide 600
787. Gnathian Trefoil Oinochoe; 4th Century BC. Piece covered in with a black slip with applied white and tan vines. 7 1/2" High, 4 3/4" Diameter 950
788. Campanian Teano Ware Footed Dish; 4th Century BC. Has brilliant metallic glaze and incised pattern on a broad flat lip. 3" High, 5 1/4" Diameter 700
789. Campanian Squat Lekythos; 4th Century BC. This squat lekythos looks to be a minor product of the workshop of the Iliesio painter. In shape and the palmettes decoration it finds close parallels in the group of the Dresden amphora-RVAPI, page 303 nos. 11/16g ff. and supplement II, p. 76, nos. 11/16g c-i. Trendall suggests that with so little to go on, it is difficult to place this vase exactly but it is his belief there is little doubt that it is to be associated with the group of the Dresden amphora. Lekythos renders a finely drawn griffin about to spring. Griffins depicted in ancient art are rare. 3 1/4" High 2000
790. Campanian Single-Handled Mug; 4th Century BC. Mug covered with black slip. Molded palmettes run around the body separated by incised lines. In perfect condition. 2 1/2" High, 4 3/4" Diameter with handles 950
791. Campanian Blackware Strainer; 4th Century BC. Spout in shape of animal. 3" High, 4 1/4" Wide 500
792. Roman Erotic Terracotta Oil Lamp; 1st Century AD. Lamp renders a highly erotic setting, with three males and one female. Signed on back as "COPPIRIS". 4 1/2" Long 2000
793. Roman Erotic Terracotta Oil Lamp; 1st Century AD. Lamp renders a male and female. Signed on back as "LMVNPHILE". 4 1/2" Long 1300
794. Roman Terracotta Oil Lamp; 1st-2nd Century AD. Lamp renders a standing female facing to the left. Signed on reverse as "MPERIOV?". 4" Long 250
795. Roman Stone Lamp Mold; 4th-5th Century AD. Found at Sbeitla, mold represents the top half of a Roman red slip oil lamp. 7 1/2" Long, 5 3/8" Wide 450
796. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim are stylized triangles. On disc is Helios, called Sol by the Romans, the god of the sun. Homer describes Sol as giving light both to gods and men. 5 5/16" Long 400
797. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim is alternating circles and hearts. Disc has highly stylized star. 5 5/8" Long 250
798. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. Lamp renders Orpheus in a tree playing his lyre, as the animals listen on. Stylized fish cover rim. Orpheus, a mythical personage, was regarded by the Greeks as the most celebrated of the early poets, who lived before the time of Homer. Presented with the lyre by Apollo, and instructed to play its enchanting tune. 5 3/4" Long 800
799. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim is five circles and one triangle on either side. On disc is a fish swimming right. 4 3/4" Long 235
800. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim is alternating geometric designs. On disc is two swans facing right with a bail-amphora between them. 4 1/2" Long 275
801. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. The disc renders Christ, dressed in a long tunic tied at the waist with delicate folds tumbling down. To the right of Christ is a serpent, and directly below a lion moves to the left. Finally on either side of Christ are two floating angels. Rim has circles containing geometric designs and Chi-Ro monograms. 5 1/2" Long 1500
802. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim is alternating geometric designs. On disc is a bust of a highly detailed male facing left. 5 3/4" Long 450
803. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. Disc renders two hebrews caring an enormous bunch of grapes from the promise land. On rim is a intertwining geometric design. 5 3/4" Long 325
804. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim are palm branches. On disc is a horse led by a human figure to the right. 5 7/8" Long 325
805. Roman Red Slip Oil Lamp From Tunisie; 4th-5th Century AD. On rim is alternating circles & hearts. On disc is a highly detailed saint looking to the left. 5 1/2" Long 400
806. Luristan Bronze Whetstone Socket; 1200-800 BC. Whetstone sockets were used as a major tool for elaborate cast decoration. As bronze requires so much more whetting than iron, the hone had always been of major importance in the equipment of bronze users. The whetstone socket is in the form of a recumbent ibex over a goat. The piece is mounted on a lucite stand with a frosted lucite tube acting as the stone which would have been fitted in similar fashion. 12" Long 1200
807. Luristan Master-Of-Animals' Finial; 1200-800 BC. Cast bronze anthropomorphic tube flanked by rampant animals. Central human figure stands at center wearing a girdle round the waist. The figure grasps the necks of the flanking animals, which have gaping jaws, cocks' combs, and prominent rounded eyes. The same figures are rendered on both sides possessing a reddish-brown to dark brown patina. The base and finial have been rejoined at the center. 13 5/8" High 1250
808. Western Persian Bronze Arrow-Head; 1200-1000 BC. Finely casted with a dark brown patina. Comes mounted on lucite stand. 4 1/4" Long, 5 5/8" High with stand 250
809. Achaemenid Persian Bronze Ladle; 550-400 Century BC. Antelope head terminal in perfect condition. 12" High 1800
810. Greek Bronze Centaur; 3rd-2nd Century BC. Found in Sicily. Centaurs were an ancient race, inhabiting Mount Pelion in Thessaly. Centaurs, who led wild and savage lives, were represented as half-horses and half-men. This particular piece renders the upper torso of the centaur, with wonderful detail. The piece has a light green patina with a tan incrustation covering most of the piece. 1 1/2" High 1500
811. Celtic Bronze Dog; 1 BC.-1 AD. Dog sleeping on right side with feet and head tucked close to body. Piece possesses a rich light green patina. 1 7/8" Long 800
812. Roman Bronze Dental Mirror; 1st-2nd Century AD. Original dental mirror in pristine condition. Dental mirrors in general are highly unusual. 4 1/8" Long 1000
813. Roman Silver Miniature Table Leg; 1st-2nd Century AD. Piece renders a highly detailed lion standing on its one clawed paw. A highly unusual piece. 1 1/8" High 800

814. Roman Bronze Theatre Mask; 1st-3rd AD. 3/4" High 450
815. Roman Bronze Phallic Amulet; 1st-3rd Century AD. Amulet covered with a light green incrustation. 1 3/8" Long 325
817. Late Roman - Byzantine Bronze Oil Lamp Filler. Small bowl-shaped filler with wide flat rim and long spout with channel. 3 5/8" Long 325
818. Byzantine Bronze Rabbit; 4th-5th Century AD. Rabbit stands on all fours with its long ears resting the length of the animals back. Piece has a light green patina. Left eye has gouge running through it. 1 1/2" Long 500
819. Byzantine Bronze Scalpel. Scalpel has silver geometric pattern inlay. Grooved shaft for handle attachment and double edged cutting blade. Silver inlay covers all surfaces in a dot and circle motif. 5" Long 2000
820. Greek Archaic Horse & Rider; 6th Century BC. Original horse & rider in a light creme terracotta. Intact Archaic horse & riders are extremely rare. Ears of horse and riders right arm have been restored. 6 1/2" High, 7" Long 4500
821. Greek Centuripae Terracotta Woman; 4th Century BC. Woman with left leg upon an alter; weight slightly reared forward with arms extended outward. Chiton tied at waist flowing down in neat folds around lower body. Restored from fragments. 9" High 4500
822. Canosan Terracotta Dove; 300 Century BC. Dove has stubby conical feet which are tacked on the base; the wings project from the sides of the body and flutter out behind, and the tail is turned downward to give added stability. A substantial amount of the original white slip still remains. 3 1/4" High, 4 3/4" Long 1000
823. Roman-Egypt Terracotta Standing Male Figure; 1st BC-1st AD. 6 1/2" High 450
824. Roman Terracotta Roundel of Harpocrates; 1st Century AD. He was the child of Horus, who was the son of Isis and Osiris. 4" High, 3 1/4" Wide 350
825. Roman Terracotta Ram's Head from Top of Vessel; 1st Century AD. 4 1/2" High, 5" Long 1700
826. Roman Glass, Beaker with Indented Sides; 1st-3rd Century AD. An extremely thinly-blown and fragile glass, with squared off sides pushed in to form four indents. It has a sharp knocked-off rim and slightly pushed-in base. 3" High 400
827. Roman Glass Flask; 4th Century AD. Swelling broad-bellied body with flat base and flattened shoulder. High funnel-shaped neck slightly bulging at mouth. Has some metallic incrustation with violet iridescence. 4 1/2" High 400
828. Roman Glass Bowl; 3rd-4th Century AD. Vertical wall and flat rim with extended lip. Low conical foot, made by folding, pushed up at center to form a solid knob. Dull milky grey and white incrustation throughout. 2 1/4" High, 4" Diameter 350
829. Roman Bell-Shaped Unguentarian Glass; 3rd Century AD. Long tubular body, with double footed base and flaring rounded-off lip. Brown incrustation covers piece. 5 3/4" High 300
830. Roman Unguentarium Glass; 1st-2nd Century AD. Cubical graduated body with wide tubular neck constricted between the body and neck. Light green incrustation with some metallic iridescence. 3" Long 195
831. Byzantine Silver Ring; 7th Century AD. Inscription reads in Greek legend: May god protect the wearer. Approximately size 7 1/2 1500
832. Byzantine Gold Ring; 8th Century AD. Inscription reads: Mother of god, help me! Approximately size 6 1800
833. Roman Carnelian Cameo; 1st-2nd Century AD. Cameo renders half-man facing to the right, and half-eagle facing to the left. The detail of the cameo is fantastic with no signs of wear. 14mm 1500
834. Byzantine Steatite Icon of St. Pantaleimon; 11th Century AD. St. Pantaleimon was court physician to the emperor Galerius. From a life of indulgence he was converted by a Christian friend. During the reign of Diocletian he was imprisoned and severely tortured before being beheaded in Bithynia in 304 AD., this saint day in the Greek Orthodox Church is July 27th. This particular icon which is in pristine condition, renders the saint facing forward with pincers in his right hand & his medicine box in his left. Some of the original gilding still is visible. Only two other specimens exists, one in the Vatican & one in the Walters Art Gallery in Baltimore, both of which are either fragmentary or restored. Fortunately, this one unlike the others has seen no such fate. 2 1/4" High, 1 3/4" Wide 12500
